Former power plant business pushes earnings into the red

The unexpected one-time burden on FY 2020 earnings is likely to dampen investor sentiment. It is at least slightly positive, that the extraordinary burden is not related to Daldrup's core business. Taking into account the strong year end business here and the order pipeline (volume of up to EUR 110m, not yet realized as order intake), demand for drilling services seems to remain high. However, operational processes have to be improved in order to achieve higher margins. Without major newsflow, the shares have significantly rallied over the recent months and exceeded our target price. We believe that the expectations for an improving drilling business are largely to be priced-in and any short-term catalysts are not to be seen. With a new TP of EUR 4.70 we downgrade the share to Hold.

Daldrup reported that FY 2020 earnings will be burdened by a one-time effect in the amount of EUR 5.7m, resulting from external effects in connection with its former power plant business, which was sold to IKAV in January 2020. However, at the same time, receivables related to the power plant business were reduced to EUR 6.3m and Daldrup generates a cash inflow of around EUR 2.9m. Adjusted by the one-time effect FY 2020 EBIT came in at EUR 0.7m (PASe: 1m) and thus at the lower end of the company's guidance. The miss results from project related additional costs in the core business drilling services. Daldrup's forecast for group total income now amounts to around EUR 44m (PASe: EUR 44m) and thus exceeded Daldrup's previous guidance (EUR 40m) due to a strong year-end.
